

Jaka Cepec je izredni profesor za področje civilnega in gospodarskega prava na Univerzi v Ljubljani. Zaradi svoje izkušnje z rakom v mladosti se že skoraj dve desetletji kot prostovoljec ukvarja s pravicami bolnika kot pacienta, bolnika kot delavce in s pravicami bolnika iz socialnih zavarovanj. Ves čas deluje v okviru Združenje bolnikov z limfom in levkemijo, kjer je zadnjih 5 let tudi predsednik.

Jaka Cepec is an associate professor of civil and commercial law at the Faculty of Economics and Business at University of Ljubljana. Due to his own experience with cancer in his youth, he has been volunteering for almost two decades mostly in the sector of the rights of the patients as patients, as employees, and also with rights from their social and health insurance. All this time he was active member of the Association of Lymphoma and Leukemia Patients L&L and for the last 5 years he has been its president.
